

Pictures from Jim Story's 2004 Garden Tour, his last one before his death in 2005.

The photos are from Jim's very last gourd garden in 2004. He asked me to help him with a tour he would give of his garden.

There was a very great turn out - more people visited than he thought would come by for the tour. It was a great day - I will never forget it.

The very next day there was about 3 to 4 inches of rain, and it flooded the garden. While it did not hurt the garden, there were some items that floated away such as some dry gourds that were on top of the trellis along with some plastic chairs. Jim's garden was right next to Fall Creek which flowed through Pendleton, Indiana.
